A group of seven judges, three men and four women, are standing in a courtroom. They are wearing black judicial robes with red sleeves and white collars. The judge in the center is a man with glasses, wearing a blue medal on his chest. The judge to his right is a woman with glasses, also wearing a blue medal. The other judges are women of various ages and ethnicities. They are standing in front of a wooden bench with several black chairs behind them. The background is a wall with vertical wood paneling.
